MEMORIES of the Royal Visit to Calgary came flashing back to the headlines this week. At a reception in Washington, a cowboy from Texas said that it was unfortunate that the Duke and the Princess would be unable to visit the "Lone Star State." To this the Duke replied, "We have been to Calgary, and that is the next best thing." The Royal couple will not forget the views of the miniature stampede put on for them at Calgary.

LABOR DAY WEEK-END ENDS IN TRAGEDY FOR ST. ALBERT FAMILY

On Sept. 1 Robert Nesom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nesom of St. Albert and a friend planned to spend the Labor week-end at their respective homes.

They were unable to get room on the bus so they boarded a freight train just passing through Red Deer going north, a train with oil tanks and gravel cars. They began to work their way forward to get into a gravel car, Robert following his friend.

They had decided too, to either jump or get off at the next stop, because they found they did not like riding in this manner.

When the friend got off at the next stop, Robert was not there. The friend thought Robert must have gone on. When he didn't return to work on Tuesday, the friend (no name given) became alarmed and notified the RCMP, who began an immediate investigation.

Robert was employed at the Red Deer Treasury Branch, and was due for a promotion on his return.

His badly decomposed body was finally found at Drumheller floating in the Red Deer river, on Oct. 20.

Robert had attended High School in St. Albert. At his funeral at Edmonton on Wednesday, Oct. 24, his classmates were the pallbearers.

The RCMP believe that Robert either jumped without noticing that he was over the river or fell in from dizziness as he passed over the water.

Fast Trip: But Stork Won Race

Ted Dolhagard of St. Albert says there's a leak in the gas tank on his truck. He thinks it may be due to the rough trip taken two weeks ago with Mrs. Dolhagard to the General Hospital in Edmonton.

Actually, the fast ride to hospital started with the heat of intentions of getting there in plenty of time to await the arrival of Mr. Stork. But he soon made it known he was in a mighty big hurry and the faster Ted drove the truck the faster the big bird winged his way. Result was that at 35 m.p.h., but only 1½ blocks from the hospital Baby Catherine was born. The time: 2:35 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 28.

Mother and baby are back home again in St. Albert. None, including father Ted, seem to be the worse for their rather harrowing experience.

"Cain't say," replied the thrifty bachelor. "Matilda's bigger and stouter and can do more work. Still, on the other hand, it only takes three yards of calico to make Elviry a dress."

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa,

I have been going with two boys and I can't decide which I like the best.

One is of my same faith, and the other is not, so, of course, my parents like the first one best.

Do you think I should consider that when I make up my mind?

Sweet Sixteen

Answer:

I do not think that you are in love with either of these boys and you are too young to get married, anyway.

However, if you do feel that you have to make a choice, your chances for happiness are greater if you marry someone of your own faith.

There is more to marriage than

LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

My husband has been in Korea for the past six months and I have not received my allotment. I have one child and I am becoming desperate.

The baby is small and I have no one to leave it with and my money is about gone. I am sure that my husband signed for an allotment as he told me so before he left.

What can I do?

WORRIED WIFE.

Answer:

I assume that you have written to your husband and have contacted the army officer in charge of your area. The best thing you can do now is to go to the nearest Red Cross office and talk with the director.

He or she, as the case may be, will try to get in touch with your husband by wire to find out what the trouble is.

Very often the Red Cross office will make you a loan on your allotment if it is desired for any reason.

EDMONTON RURAL HEALTH UNIT QUARTERLY REPORT
STATES WASTE DISPOSAL GROUNDS ARE IMPROVED

The department of public works is removing dirt from the Leduc waste disposal grounds, and the result should provide a pit to take care of Leduc's refuse for many years. This was stated in the third and final quarterly report of the Edmonton Rural Health Unit. The report, issued by Dr. H. Siemens, medical officer of health, covered the period from July 1 to Sept. 30. The report stated a pit type waste disposal ground is also planned for Nisku and Beaumont.

Included in the summary of the toxics with 890 and diphtheria were done were examinations of persons of all ages by a doctor, nurses and the guidance clinic which totalled 703 and home visits amounting to 680. Cases of communicable diseases such as chicken pox, impetigo, measles and whooping cough—contacted, visited and quarantined, amounted to 313. Inspections for sanitation, carried out in butcher shops, dairies, restaurants and such, totalled 236.

Sixty-four people were X-rayed by the tuberculosis division and three new active cases were discovered. The mobile unit, working from Lamont, has made arrangements to do mass X rays in four school districts in the north-east corner of the Clover Bar school division.

Twelve cases of whooping cough were reported. Of the eleven for whom records are available, nine had not been partially completed. The single case of scarlet fever had not received inoculations.

J. A. MacDougall visited 38 classrooms and gave 33 talks. There were 628 children interviewed privately.

Milk deliveries have again commenced in Morinville. A local farmer delivers his raw milk to an Edmonton plant and returns with bottled milk.

Complaints regarding "ropy milk" were received from the residents of Calmar. After an investigation it was found that poor housekeeping by a new man in the pasteurizing plant was responsible.

But if the pace was grueling, the royal couple could take comfort from the fact that their good will visit was a smash hit.

The temperature stood at a chilly 43 degrees and the sky had a gray, London-like overcast as Elizabeth and Philip left Blair House shortly after 10 a.m. to begin their whirlwind rounds. Elizabeth wore a slate blue silk coat and a hat of a darker blue shade. Philip wore his British naval uniform.

Backbone Of the Army

As every veteran knows, regardless of which branch of the service he was in, the Infantry soldier wins the battles and the wars. No other group of fighting men have won the high honors that Canada's Infantry have won, and in no group is the spirit of high purpose and comradeship in better evidence.

Alberta men who want to travel and serve their country, men who are young enough to appreciate adventure now have an opportunity to fulfill a life-long ambition. The Canadian Army has openings now for such men in the honoured Infantry Corps. Recruiting Officer Captain Roy A. Jardine of Headquarters Western Command has appointed local recruiting officers in various towns in Alberta so that young men in rural areas can easily consult a qualified representative of the Army in their own home districts.

The recruiting campaign starts in Alberta on November 1st. Recruits will have the opportunity of identifying themselves with either the famous Loyal Edmonton Regiment, the Princess Pat Canadian Light Infantry or one of the excellent eastern or B.C. units. Every new infantryman has his choice of unit—and choice of career in the Infantry.

Conservatives To Open Fight

Alberta Conservatives have decided to end the peace and take up the old-time dividing battle that has little meaning in a realistic world, but leaves only a sour taste in the public mouth. The Tory party never has got anywhere in Alberta and it is more than probable it never will, but just the same, heredity, historic background and party pride must have its way. Party integrity, not party co-operation, is the watchword.

Time, effort, money, peace in the public arena, all these and much more mean nothing, the party must keep alive, even if only in gasps and spasms and jerks, in the hope that some day, in some mysterious and miraculous manner, something will happen to squeeze the Tory group into the seats of the mighty in Alberta.

In the federal field it is different. There the Tories have always taken a prominent and useful role in the country's affairs, but, in Alberta where the party spasms are only the dying plunges of a fishy mite, it means only fighting, disturbance of the provincial peace and a waste of effort, money and time. When will a Tory learn anything?

News Item: "More than one hundred delegates from all over Alberta are expected to attend the provincial convention of the Progressive Conservative Association, at the Macdonald, Nov. 15 to 16, according to the Northern Alberta vice-president."

Coyote Control

Farmers and ranchers who suffer loss year by year by coyotes, often differ among themselves as to the best means of control. The old system of bounties, though favoured yet by some, is definitely disapproved of by the Government officials. It seems, though, that coyote days are numbered in Alberta, what with the new cyanide guns and system of instruction schools to inform those interested on how to use them. Nine districts have conducted these schools.

These are the Municipal Districts of Ponoka, Bonnyville, Cochrane, Wetaskiwin, Bright, Camrose, Stony Plain and Leduc, and local Improvement District No. 76 (Beaton area). The Municipal Districts of Pincher Creek, Kneehill, Lac Ste. Anne and Red Deer also have applied for the establishment of the program in their districts.

The schools familiarize Pest Control Officers with cyanide "coyote-getters" and the necessary precautions taken when setting up a gun. These include the posting of warning signs in the area and notifying neighbors and local schools of the danger. The "coyote-getters," cyanide cartridges, scents, bait and other materials are supplied free of cost by the Department of Agriculture to organized districts and distributed by the District Agriculturists and Pest Control Officers. Coyote guns set out properly have been successful.

Helibuses, Helicabs, Heliports and Helicosts

By T. W. PUE

In some ways, flying is the fastest distance between two points. In other ways, it lets you to fly only if you have plenty of time.

On a trip from Halifax to Vancouver you save probably three days flying time and on such a jaunt the two hours spent in limousine travel between airport and down-town hotel is inconsequential. But flying from Edmonton to Wetaskiwin, say, would involve more time in ground travel than in flight. Edmonton has the unique advantage of having an airport literally in the down-town area. But it won't be long before public opinion will force the city to sell the present airport property (at a big price) to housing and commercial interests and the airport will be located about ten miles from the Macdonald Hotel, just like in other big cities.

T. W. PUE

FLY TO THE AIRPORT!

The helicopter, that strange looking machine with a wind mill in front, and another big one on top, may be the answer to the problem. In Detroit, for instance, you travel 40 miles to get to the airport. And it's so far from the point the bus drops you off to the point where you actually step into the plane that I think another bus service should be instituted to serve passengers once they get to the airport.

Anyway, it would simplify air travel greatly if passengers could fly that 40 miles from the roof of the Brooks-Cadillac to Willow Run—and save hours of travel. That's what the helicopter would do—fly the passengers to the airport from a small "airfield", the flat roof of a tall downtown building. With its second propeller sitting on the top, twirling around like an old fashioned fan in an ice cream parlor, it flies straight up.

NOW MERCY PLANE

The time I rode in a helicopter was back in 1937, long before it was put to the serious work of flying wounded men out of combat zones, as is done now in Korea. It cost me $5.00 for a ten minute flight over Toronto from what is now Malton Airport.

But will the strange looking flying windmill do a real job in commercial aviation? I believe it will.

I think that in a few years, besides flying passengers to and from airports, it'll be used to make the local runs now being operated by buses and trains.

Helicopters will become helibuses, by carrying passengers from the roof of the Edmonton bus depot to towns and villages in the province. It will take 1½ hours to fly to Whitecourt with stops at Onoway, Sangudo and Mayerthorpe. The helibus will serve towns now getting mail by bus and train.

Helicabs will respond to private calls in the same manner as taxis do now. Only you'll call a helicab to travel distances of not less than ten or fifteen miles.

Every town will have a heliport. If the new Killam arena had a flat roof it would make an excellent heliport. Other towns would be wise to preserve a complete block of land to be held as a future heliport for downtown parking of helibuses and helicabs.

Then there are helicosts. It will cost more to fly by helicab than to travel by taxicab. The biggest expense will be the initial cost of the machines. But now in Korea they're giving them plenty of practical experience and it may be that after the extravagances of war have run their course a future Henry Ford will produce helicopters cheaply by mass production.

You may even be the proud owner of your own private family helicab. I hope so anyway.

THE BIBLE TODAY:

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit. For the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.

For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh; that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit. . . . For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.—From Paul's letter to the Romans, Chapter 8, Verses 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6.

Note and Comment

We're afraid that one problem facing Alberta farmers has been solved—but the solution is worse than the problem. Where to store the 1951 grain crop until it could be moved by rail to port shipping points, isn't now the big problem. The farmer's worry is how to get the crops in from the fields, with near zero weather and blowing snow, day after day. The situation, particularly right here in Alberta, is serious.

LIFE OF RILEY?

Dear Sir—I'd sure like to know what "Tired Businessman" knows about socialism. He says he is tired—what a laugh. I bet your seat must have blisters from sitting around all day. He thinks farmers have it easy, but I bet the only farmer he must have seen was in the movies.

For his information, farmers on the whole work from sunrise to sunset.

I don't see what "Tired Businessman" has to beef about because if it wasn't for the farmer what would he have to eat?

AGAINST PRICE CONTROL

Dear Sir—I have seen an editorial in your September 18 issue in which you argue that the labor unions are right in asking for price control. You say that in the United States the cost-of-living index has not risen since control has been put on. On the other hand the cost-of-living index has been rising in Canada, while controls have not been put on. You think this proves that the unions are right.

This summer has been too short for the ripening of crops. It has been, also, much too short as a test of price control as a means of keeping prices down.

If this spring the Canadian Government had followed the example of the United States, and started talking about putting on price control, there would have been a check given to price increases here, just as was the case there. The people would have felt that, with a promise from the Government, that prices would be stopped from rising, it would be safe to withhold from spending.

That is, as the wartime experience showed, price control will work for a while. The trouble is that it breaks down in the end, in a free country. No government of a free country can long prevent its people from buying what they want to buy, at prices which they can and will pay, and it is a plain fact that prices never rise beyond the point at which the public can and will pay for them.

Mr. Abbot has pointed out in plain language that the famous price control system in Canada during the war was taken off in 1946, because the Government felt that it was about to break down. Price control was taken off in the United States because it had broken down, there. Hold your horses for a moment. Price control, in the United States, is now admittedly breaking down again, after being tried for only a few months. When it breaks down, the cost-of-living in that country will rise even faster than it has been rising in Canada.

As the British Labor Party has pointed out in a recent pamphlet,

"This Cost of Living Business," the cure for inflation is increased production. This cure can be helped a lot by the Government cutting down on some of its spending, for it is Government spending which is the main source of inflation in the United States and Canada.

Price controls, as the American Federation of Labor has recently pointed out, in its publication, "Labor's Monthly Survey," "do not reach the real causes of inflation and of these causes are not dealt with, price controls cannot be effective but will only lead to (1) black markets while controls are on, and (2) serious inflation after they are lifted."

THAT'S FOR SURE.

Small Alberta Towns Keep Pace With Growth Of Edmonton

Edmonton is not alone in rapid expansion, the recent census shows, but small towns and villages in Alberta manage very well to keep abreast with their capital's example of progress and expansion.

The 1951 census shows that some of Alberta's smaller communities have more than doubled their population in the last five year period, and developed their businesses and utilities accordingly.

Towns such as Redwater, Leduc and Nisku have sprung into importance through the development of Alberta's rich oil fields, and have set up secondary industries in the boom that will always employ a greater number of new citizens than they could have imagined a few years ago.

Oh, however, cannot be given all the credit. Agriculture can also claim considerable importance.

With the rise in returns for top grade farm products, and increased rapid production of foodstuffs, better facilities in small towns have had to be built. More modern creameries and egg grading stations are springing up, employing construction men, local helpers, and in most cases, city trained specialists.

Scores of homesteaders are moving into our more northern districts and setting up communities for their own convenience, where they not only buy their staples and sell their products, but also meet there for pleasure and entertainment.

Here are statistics taken at random from the 1951 census to illustrate just how our small towns have grown:

Redwater, from not incorporated to 1,302.

Andrew, from 238 to 623.

Killam, from 247 to 465.

Increases can be shown in many others like Vilna, Thorhild, Beiseker, Clyde and Daysland.

For Other Ears

"Mother, what is a trousseau?" inquired a six-year-old. The mother looked across the room at her husband, who was hiding behind a paper, and said:
"A trousseau is the clothes the bride wears for six or seven years after she is married."

Police Name 268 Bookies At Coast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—(BUP)—Names of 268 persons were released by city police in Vancouver's biggest bookie crackdown today as 31 men appeared in police court, by Magistrate W. W. McInnes until 2 p.m., Nov. 21.

The 268 persons named in the police drive to smash bookmaking in Vancouver, were not charged. But they are alleged to have conspired with 34 other persons in a big-time bookmaking ring in Vancouver.

Three of the "big names" are still being sought by police.

The crackdown and roundup was launched in the city Oct. 15 by a horde of police under direction of Det. Sgt. Archie Plummer.

A minor disturbance occurred outside the police station yesterday before the hearing when one of the 31 suspects kicked a camera held by a Sun photographer.

Union Chief Denies Split Within Ranks Of Labor Congress

OTTAWA, Nov. 2. — (BUP) — A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, denied last night that the CCL's executive meeting was stalemated over a split within the organization.

"The fact that, apart from minor differences of opinion on some incidental matters, there was complete unanimity in the meetings, is a clear indication of the continued strength of the Congress," Mosher said.

"At no time in the history of the Congress has the executive shown more harmony and determination to co-operate in the interests of the Congress and of the Canadian labor movement," he added.

It was announced that an agreement had been reached between the United Steelworkers of America and the Congress in relation to unions representing shipyard workers in Collingwood, Midland and Port Arthur, Ont.

The shipyard workers now belong to local unions which are directly chartered by the CCL. The steel union applied for direct jurisdiction over the workers, but acting secretary-treasurer H. A. Chappell said the application had been withdrawn.

Yellowstone National Park and the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes in the shadow of Alaska's terrible-tempered Mount Katmai, are among the world's most dramatic examples of the earth boiling under men's feet.

The warning came in a leaflet distributed by "liberation" battalions in the Suez Canal zone.

It said that effective today all "collaborators" who sell or transport supplies to the British garrison will be rounded up by the underground and punished in public.

The branding by fire, according to the leaflet, will serve as a "lifelong mark of treachery."

The Interior Ministry disclosed two days ago that "liberation battalions", determined to force the British out of Egypt and the Sudan are springing up throughout the nation. It said they were able to obtain arms on the black market.

In another secret leaflet scattered through the Canal Zone, the underground forces threatened to meet British troops on an "eye for an eye, tooth for a tooth" basis, according to the newspaper Al Misri.

Churchill Names Cabinet, Reduces Own Salary

LONDON, Oct. 31. — (BUP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill has completed his cabinet by naming seven more ministers. At the same time he cut his own and his cabinet's salaries in his first step to trim government spending.

Churchill held a 90-minute cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing St. shortly after ordering more troops rushed to the Middle East to help defend the British Empire.

The salary cuts will last through the period of rearmament or for three years, "whichever ends first," a government announcement said.

Churchill's completed cabinet has 14 members besides himself. He is serving both as prime minister and defence minister. The cabinet covers a wider range of responsibility than the last Socialist cabinet, which had 17 members and 16 ministers outside the cabinet.
